HOW TO READ THESE RESULTS

✓ PASS

The file on the server is exactly what was signed. Think of it as a tamper seal — PASS means the seal is unbroken. The file has not been altered since the vault owner signed the manifest.

✗ FAIL

The file does not match the signed record. Either the file was changed after signing, or the manifest is out of date. This is a flag worth noting — ask the vault owner to re-sign.

⚠ CORS

The file exists but your browser was blocked from reading it due to a cross-origin policy. This is a configuration issue on the server, not evidence of tampering. The file could not be verified.

✗ FETCH ERR

The file could not be retrieved at all — it may have been moved, deleted, or the server is unreachable. A missing evidence file is itself a gap in the vault.

Verification Strength Scores (1–10)

- 1–2 Self-authored document only — no independent corroboration.
- 3–4 Third-party authored (e.g. press article), but no live verification link.
- 5–6 Third-party source with an external link to the original.
- 7–8 Government record — permit, inspection report, FOI ruling.
- 9 Live government endpoint — license board lookup, congressional record.
- 10 Live QR-verified vital record (e.g. Italy-style embedded issuer verification).

Scores are self-declared by the vault owner and independently assessed by an AI auditor. A large gap between the two scores is itself worth investigating. Higher scores mean independent records exist to cross-check the claim against — lower scores mean the claim rests primarily on the owner's own documentation.

What this validator checks: It fetches the PGP-signed manifest (`site_manifest.json.asc`), extracts the expected SHA-256 hashes, then fetches each listed file and re-computes its hash in your browser. Green = file matches the signed manifest. Red = mismatch or fetch failure.

What this validator does not check: Whether the underlying documents are authentic. A PGP signature proves who signed the manifest and that files have not changed since signing — not that the original files are genuine. Self-certification is self-lying; this tool verifies integrity, not authenticity. See LEGAL.md for the full legal posture analysis.
